Heaven Eyes and my view.

By SW Chang

Heaven Eyes is written by David Almond. He was grown in northeastern England. He used to be a postman, a brush salesman, an editor, and even a teacher but his writing started after he graduated college. The first novel for children he wrote was Skelling, and this book won a lot of honors, and a lot of best book of the year lists. His second novel, Kit's Wilderness, also won a lot of honors and best book lists for excellence of writing for young adults. He lives in England with his families.

Escaped from their orphanage, Whitegates, on a raft, Erin, January, and Mouse float down into another world of abandoned warehouses and factories, meeting a strange old man and an even stranger girl with webbed fingers and little memory of her past. In this book, Heaven Eyes, the hidden secrets and the surprising past of the strange girl, Heaven Eyes, are hidden in the deep darkness of here, Black Middens.

The reason that I chose this book to read for this assignment is because the title, Heaven Eyes, just attracted my eyes. I am not Catholic and don't believe much about Jesus, so I don't have many relationships with heaven. But I am very interested in reading some mysterious book, and the word, Heaven Eyes, looked like very mysterious to me. I am very bad reader, so I tried to look for the book that I would enjoy to read, and finally I found out that I like to read mysteries. That's why I am interested in mystery books.

The setting of the book was already cool. This book is about orphans, and the way that they live differently from our lives. This book makes reader interested, because readers can have a time to imagine what their lives would look like if they live with their family, or parents. Also this book flows very unexpectedly and mysteriously, it's also fun to read and predict what will be coming out after each chapter. This book might be very interesting and great to people who are looking for a book to read before they sleep.

The best part of this book, in my little thought, is when Erin, January, and Mouse were saved by Grampa, and Heaven Eyes from the mud of the Black Middens. This part got two new characters joined in this story. Meeting with Grampa and Heaven Eyes foreshadows that Erin, January, and Mouse will have conflicts, and happenings between Grampa and Heaven Eyes. The story is going to be about Grampa and Heaven Eyes' hidden pasts and secrets, so their appearance is very important part.

I think that this book would excite readers' brains and thoughts, so for the ones who want to read with thinking a lot, this book would be cool.

Heaven Eyes

By ReneeAyers

Heaven Eyes is a complex novel that examines the emotions experienced by a group of kids who run away from a children's home. Erin, January, and Mouse are the three main children from the children's home, Whitegates. These three children have been lefted at this home by their parents, in the care of Maureen, the social worker. Maureen believes that these children are damaged and without hope of surviving in the world. These children carry with them memories of their former lives, their "treasures," and this gives them a chance from which to develop has individuals.

Erin and January have a very strong friendship. Erin and January have always run away together, but have always returned safely. Erin, January, and Mouse decided to run away by floating downstream on a raft that January built. Little did they know that they would be washed up on the soft mud of Black Middens. The children were rescued by the ghosts Heaven Eyes and Grampa. Heaven Eyes tells the children that she was rescued from the mud years ago and by Grampa and that he was her caretaker. Grampa has a great desire to keep Heaven Eyes with him, which causes him to put the lives of other in danger. Everynight, Grampa digs in the mud of the Black Middens hoping to find treasures that will tell the story of Heaven Eyes' past. As time goes on, one night Grampa found the treasures to Heaven Eyes past. It was not long after the treasures were found when Grampa died. As a result of Grampa's death, the children decided to take Heaven Eyes back to Whitegates with them to live. When they arrived at Whitegates everyone was so happy to see them and also the friend that they brought back with them.

Heaven Eyes is a story about love and recovery as well as loss. This is a true literacy fiction for a younger audience. This book may be a little hard for young children (4th-6th graders) to understand, but a 7th grader should be able to understand it as well as enjoy it. This book was very interesting to us and we highly recommend it to those who have not read it.

The Magic of Heaven Eyes

By A Customer

This book just by looking at the cover will pull you right in. This is a fantasy, suspenseful, mystery, with a little spooky feeling to it. When I read the back, it made me want to read the book, "Welcome into the world out of the dark." It made me feel like I had to find out what happens! I highly recommend this book to pretty much anyone, because it has a little bit of everything in it.

Heaven Eyes is about kids who live at a place called White Gates. The kids live there because their parents died or couldn't take care of them anymore. The lady, who basicly runs the place is called Maureen, the kids aren't very fond of her, because she makes them do a circle time to talk about what happened to them. Erin, January, and Mouse decide to run away. They have ran away before but this time they want to get away! January built a raft out of three doors to sail across the river, but end up sailing right in to the black Black Middens. Grampa is digging on a moony night with Heaven Eyes, when they spot Mouse, Erin, and January in the black Middens. Grampa and Heaven Eyes drag them to shore. They bring them to the shelter of the printing works, Grampa's office. From there on they create a story that will last forever.

This book has suspense, mystery, fantasy, and a little spooky feeling. I read "Skelling," another book by David Almond, and loved it! My cousin also reccomned this book to me, and David Almond now is my favorite author. I highly recommend
